The Windsors (since 2016) •

• This series is based on the life of a British queen who reigned from 1819 until her death in 1901. Her reign was so long that her first name is commonly used today to talk about the 19th century.

The Last Kingdom (since 2015) •

• This popular series is set in a fantasy world and is an adaptation of A song of ice and fire: a series of fantasy novels written by George R.R. Martin. Even people who have not seen it may know the famous sentence "Winter is coming".

Victoria (since 2016) •

• Adapted from Shakespeare's history plays, the title of this series is actually a line from Richard II, one of Shakespeare's plays.

The Hollow Crown (2012-2016) •

• This comedy series is a parody of the British royal family. It is set in modern times and although it is fictional, it is inspired by real events.

Game of Thrones (2011-2019) •

• Set in the 9th century AD when England was divided into 7 separate kingdoms, this series is based on The Saxon Stories, a series of novels by Bernard Cornwell.
